Documents you may receive in the financial planning process

We will provide you with several documents as you progress through your financial planning and advice journey. We may provide these documents electronically to your nominated email address, unless otherwise agreed.

When we provide personal advice, it will normally be documented and provided to you in a Statement of Advice (SoA). The SoA contains a summary of your goals and the strategies and any financial products we may recommend to achieve your goals. It also provides you with detailed information about product costs and the fees and other benefits we and others will receive, as a result of our advice.

If we provide further personal advice an SoA may not be required. We will keep a record of any personal advice we provide you for seven years. You may request a copy of such records by contacting us during that period.

If we recommend or arrange a financial product for you, we will provide a Product Disclosure Statement (PDS), or Investor Directed Portfolio Services (IDPS) guide where relevant. These documents contain the key features of the recommended product, such as its benefits and risks, as well as the costs you will pay the product provider to manage that product. You should read any warnings in your advice document, the PDS or IDPS guide carefully before making any decision relating to a financial strategy or product.

Financial and Credit Adviser Profiles

About Jennifer Goldsworthy

Jennifer first entered the family business after high school, starting on reception. Over the years she worked her way up and across different roles and completed her degree in 2007. This made her one of the youngest advisers in Australia at that time. Jennifer took a 6-month break to work in AMP's head office and spend time travelling before re-joining the business.

In 2022, when her father retired, Jennifer purchased the business and, with a subtle rebrand, is continuing to deliver the high standards of advice and service that Goldsworthy is renowned for. As an Adviser, Jennifer enjoys the challenging nature of her role in an ever-changing industry and revels in the research that goes into helping clients map out ideas for how to achieve their goals.

Away from the office, Jennifer loves spending time with her husband and their young daughters Mai and Peggy. She is an active member of her local running club (where the post run coffee/chat is of equal importance), loves travelling and food (not cooking) with her ideal night out involving a degustation menu with matching wines. Yum!

Jennifer Anne Goldsworthy is an Authorised Representative (AR number 319974) and credit representative (CR number 372394) of the Licensee.
